ALL-OUT BATTLE ON ALCATRAZ

Body of Boy Fire Victim Removed

Cambridge firemen place the body of Lawrence Francis, Jr., 9, of Cambridge, into an ambulance after recovering it on the cellar stairs in his flame-swept home last night. His brother, Kenneth, 10, also perished as they tried to save their pet dog. The boy's mother had left them, apparently asleep while she went in search of two other children who had been at the movies.

Rail Express Slash May 10

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Sen. Lucas (D. of Illinois said today the sofe coal strike could "easily become an insurrection against the government" and called on President Truman to seize the idle mines unless John L. Lewis "bows to reason."

While Lucas spoke, ODT announced, because of the coal strike, the Railway Express Agency was placing an embargo on express shipments identical with that already ordered for railway freight.

Like the freight limitation order, which exempts only such items as fuel, food and medical supplies, the express embargo will be made effective at 12:01 a. m., May 10.

ODT said the action was necessary to avoid diversion of embargoed freight to the express service "which also requires the use of coal-burning locomotives."

Lucas told the Senate the 34-day-old walkout of the miners is a "political" strike, "revolutionary in character and scope."

"I am compelled," he said, "to assert that a political strike of this character could easily become an insurrection against the government and if this government has not the power under the Constitution to outlaw strikes of this character, then this government has no power of self-preservation.

He noted a shortage of coal has forced Chicago and other cities to go on "brownouts" and cited figures which he said showed the nation's railroads face a "dangerous" situation.

"These facts and figures should alarm every American, even John L. Lewis, if he is anxious to see his country secure and strong," Lucas declared. "But apparently John L. Lewis has no concern for our national necessity.

"Unless John L. Lewis bows to reason, the President of the United States must seize the mines under his wartime power and request the men to return to their jobs. The people and the government will vigorously applaud and support this move."

At Washington, J. A. Krug, solid fuels administrator, declared the relief and rehabilitation program for Europe is on the verge of collapse because of the shortage of coal for transportation.

Meanwhile, the nation's output of steel dropped nearly six points to 67.7 per cent of capacity this week. It was the sixth straight week production has sagged.

Railroad officials were working out arrangements to meet the Office of Defense Transportation's edict to slash passenger service on coal-burning lines by 50 per cent.

Howard S. Palmer, president of the New Haven R. R., declared the passenger service cut would "most seriously" affect the line's east end commuter service in New York, but that service would be maintained between Boston and New York.

Effects of the coal shortage also were being felt in Canada. Shipping officials at Winnipeg said Great Lakes grain shipments would be tied up if the strike continued another 10 days.

In Philadelphia, the Merchants Ass'n ordered a blackout of all show window, internal display and sign lighting.

Officials of the Philadelphia Electric Co. which serves 3,000,000 customers, said they would know by Tuesday how effective its plea for voluntary conservation of electricity had been.

GREEK RELIEF AIRLINER

Making its first stop in a nation-wide tour to collect medical supplies for the people of Greece, a Greek air lines plane will arrive at Logan International Airport tomorrow.

TO COURT — Actress Constance Bennett has been ordered to appear in Los Angeles court May 16 on a speeding charge. She will appear before Judge Leonard Kauffman who recently has been making it a practice to sentence speed violators to two or three weeks in jail. Police said the actress was driving 50 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

No Opera Dimout

CHICAGO, May 4 (AP)—Chicago's dimout, banning all night amusements, will not halt the Metropolitan Opera Company's spring program next week, says Albert J. Stilwell, president of the Chicago Opera Company. Stilwell said a 6600-ton cargo ship, the Main Steel Eye, had been chartered from the Martime Commission and will dock in the Chicago river near the Civic Opera building. Engineers will string power lines from the ship's Diesel electric plant into the theater.

The New York company is scheduled to open on Monday night.

TAYLOR STAYS IN ROME

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Myron C. Taylor will continue to represent the White House at the Vatican. He will retain the rank of ambassador.

Tobin Asks N. E. Freeze Coal Stocks

Gov. Tobin today drafted a telegram to the Solid Fuels Administration in Washington requesting a freeze order on all commercial coal supplies now at docks in New England, to protect dwindling stockpiles

At the same time, railroads which carry thousands of commuters to and from Boston daily were preparing curtailments in service, some of which will go into effect next Thursday.

Officials of power companies, the Boston Elevated, railroads and leading fuel concerns were called to the State House by the governor

Reduction in rail passenger traffic would put the burden on airlines, which at present can promise only a dim hope of coping with the added load because of lack of equipment.

Northeastern, which just put three new 60-passenger transports into service, and American, which has added four Boston-New York round trips to its schedule with the same type of transport, will care for some of the passenger load. By May 15, Northeastern will have 562 extra seats.

But Eastern, United and TWA, which concentrate on long-distance service, will be able to provide little help in relieving the passenger transportation problem.

Gov. Tobin said he will ask the other New England chief executives, except the governor of Vermont, to join in requesting the freeze order to preserve present coal supplies

A spokesman for the Boston Edison Co. said a month's supply of bituminous coal was on hand and no curtailment in power will be made until the situation grows more serious.

Reds Grab U. S. Clerk For Insult to Actress

MOSCOW, May 4 (AP)—Waldo Ruess of Hollywood, Cal., United States embassy clerk, received a summons today to appear Wednesday in the Moscow city prosecutor's office on charges of committing "insolent acts" against an actress from one of Moscow's state theaters.

Ruess, who declined to comment, has been a member of the embassy administration for two years and had been expecting to leave soon for home.

The Moscow newspaper Trud printed an account under the headline:

"Hooligan Acts of an American Citizen."

(Webster's dictionary says a "Hooligan" is a loafer or a ruffian.)

"Riding in an automobile with a Soviet citizen, an actress in one of the Moscow state theaters," the paper said, "a member of the American embassy in Moscow, Waldo Ruess, permitted himself a number of insolent Hooligan acts toward her.

"Ruess' Hooligan acts were stopped only after interference by a policeman, who hastened to the citizen's cries for help.

"In accordance with Soviet laws, Ruess will be brought up for criminal proceedings."

Foreign diplomats said members of embassy staffs in other countries customarily enjoyed diplomatic immunity, but that the Soviets apparently had not extended this immunity to clerks and others not on the official diplomatic list.

Arab League In Plea to Reds

LONDON, May 4 (AP)—An Arab League spokesman said Palestine reports indicated Arab groups planned to send a delegate to Moscow to ask the Soviet government to submit the Palestine problem to the United Nations.

Hub to Get Rainy, Cold Sabbath

Massachusetts fruit growers, their prospective crops already damaged by chilly and sometimes below freezing temperatures for two days, got unpleasant news from the weather bureau today in a prediction of rainy and uncomfortably cooler weather tomorrow.

The mercury dropped to 38 degrees during the night and early morning in Boston and many below-freezing recordings were reported in outlying areas where frost was visible.

Orchardists estimated the two-day cold snap would cause from 5 to 10 per cent damage to crops.

CG Training Saves Girl, 2

The artificial respiration technique that a former Coast Guardsman learned while in service today saved the life of 2-year-old Margaret Keith, Manet ave., Houghs Neck, who fell from a sea wall near her home into four feet of water.

Her sister, Lois, 6, ran 100 yards to the house and summoned their father, Ira Keith, who found his child semi-conscious.

John Sutherland, a Manet ave. neighbor and ex-member of the Coast Guard, restored the girl to consciousness. She was removed to Quincy City Hospital.

Mother Rescues Baby in Hit-Run

Quick action by a Chelsea mother saved her baby from serious injury this afternoon when a hit-run motorist struck the infant's carriage as she was wheeling it across Bellingham sq. at Hawthorn st., Chelsea.

The mother, Mrs. Eva Timmerman of Washington ave., yanked the carriage suddenly as the car struck it, buckling the front carriage wheels. The baby, jostled into the rear, was not hit, but was seriously shaken up. The hit-run car cut up Shurtleff st. without stopping.

Mrs. Timmerman, however, got the registration number. Chelsea police said the car was registered to a Boston man and inspectors were sent to his home.

MAN DIES ON BUS

James Flanagan, 70, Heath st., Brookline, a gardener, collapsed in a bus at Brookline Village today and was pronounced dead at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. His body was taken to the northern mortuary.

Open New Attack To Rout Convicts

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4—Alcatraz prison guards launched a no-quarter battle today to smash the bloody revolt of two dozen convicts trapped in the cell house.

The guards, reinforced by detachments from three other federal prisons, opened the assault with rifle and pistol fire.

Warden James A. Johnston telephoned Chief of Police Charles Dullea in San Francisco.

"Our guards are moving in on the prisoners."

The battle was being carried to the desperate convicts by guards alone.

Marines who aided yesterday in a two-hour rifle grenade attack were withdrawn from the island today.

Marine Corps headquarters said: "All marines were withdrawn at 8 a. m. They were called in to help guard the other prisoners and their services are no longer needed because the prisoners have been returned to sections of the cell house not involved in the revolt."

A force of about 20 guards from three other federal prisons and 11 from San Quentin State Prison were aiding in the attack.

One of the convicts yesterday telephoned Warden Johnston to bargain for surrender.

"We'll make a deal when you throw out your guns and ammunition," Johnston snapped back.

Silence followed.

There was no certainty how many of the convicts remained alive. A Marine officer estimated 24 were involved.

It was presumed some of the convicts were killed or wounded in the fierce battling with machineguns, rifles, pistols, hand grenades and tear gas that raged for hours.

Of the two guards killed, one was brutally kicked to death. Others were herded into a cell where frenzied and cursing convicts pumped bullets into them.

The surviving guards and the two bodies were rescued by a gallant group of prison officials who braved a hail of gunfire.

For more than 24 hours rifle and grenades had blasted at the trapped prisoners.

Alcatraz guards, reinforced by guards from other federal prisons, were rushed here by airplane.

The unprecedented escape attempt, perhaps the most spectacular in the history of federal prisons, was a complete failure.

Warden Johnston went to bed early this morning—some 35 hours after the bloody uprising began.

SEEKS DIVORCE—Diana Barrymore, young screen actress, will leave Hollywood soon for Las Vegas, Nev., where she will seek a divorce from Bramwell Fletcher. She denies there is a new romance in her life.

The Hard Way

SEATTLE, May 4 (AP)—Sgt. Webster of Ft. Lewis, Wash., and his wife Evelyn, of Minneapolis, Minn., sought each other frantically for three days in Seattle and Tacoma after missing connections when Mrs. Webster came West with their son, Russell, Jr., for a reunion.

Then Mrs. Webster walked into her hotel at Tacoma, and found her husband sitting in the lobby.

He had been living all the time in the same hotel, three floors above his wife.

MAY QUEEN AND ATTENDANT—Two queens will reign in Boston's May festival on Boston Common today. One will be Carol Ann Bonner (left) of Roslindale, with her attendant, Ann Plunkett (right). Another girl, Ann E. Short, 14-year-old South End girl, also chosen, graciously offered first place to the younger Bonner girl. Now, the park department festival will have two reigning ladies. Joy Flight of Medfield Pilot, Girl Ends in N. H.

Anxious to demonstrate his flying skill to a girl neighbor, 19-year-old James O'Brien of Medfield, took off with Phyllis Genner, 15, of Medfield, in a Piper Cub training plane from Wiggin Airport at Norwood today and several hours later landed the plane, out of gas, in a field in Bedford, N. H.

MRS. CECILLE THERIAULT, 23
Gives Birth as Mate Is Buried

The youth, recently discharged from the service after almost two years in naval aviation, has been taking flying lessons at the Norwood field under the GI bill of rights for the past several weeks.

Their prank was discovered when the Genner girl's parents found her missing from home this morning and communicated with police.

Officers, knowing of the girl's friendship with young O'Brien, checked at his home and later at the airport.

They put two and two together when they learned at the airport that the youth had not been seen there and that a ground crew worker had discovered the training plane missing during an early morning check of machines.

Knowing the plane had a limited supply of gasoline aboard, police broadcast a request for all airports to keep an eye out for the missing aircraft.

Several hours after the girl's absence was discovered, Judge Peter Woodbury of the Bedford, N. H., district court telephoned police in neighboring Manchester a plane had landed in his field and that a young couple were getting out of the machine.

Manchester officers went to the scene and the youth identified himself.

Police said it was undamaged in the landing and could be taken off from the field as soon as it was gassed. Wiggin Airport officials planned to send a pilot to Bedford to bring the ship back.

O'Brien, who lives in Green st., Medfield, had considerable flying experience during his Navy service and was making good progress in flying lessons he has been taking at Wiggin Airport since his discharge.

Taunton Vet's Bride Buried In England

NOTTINGHAM, England, May 4 (AP)—The town of Nottingham grieved today with a former U. S. parachute trooper, Joseph Cananzey of Taunton, Mass.

Crowds lined the streets as the funeral procession for his 19-year-old bride, Winifred May, passed slowly from her home to St. Anne's Church, where only 18 months ago the Cananzeys were married. Friends filled the chapel to hear the vicar express the town's sympathy.

The coffin was almost covered with two wreaths of red and yellow roses. One was from her husband and the other from his mother, whom Winifred May "met" for the first time by transatlantic telephone only a few days before she died of tuberculosis.

Cananzey, who flew across the Atlantic to his wife's bedside a month ago, said he would return by air, probably next Saturday. He said he had received a cable offering him "a good position" in his home town.

British Loan Showdown Fails

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky failed today in a series of attempts to limit Senate debate and force a showdown on the $3,750,000,000 British loan.

Barkley proposed first that the Senate agree unanimously to limit each member to an hour's discussion of the loan proposal, beginning Monday. When Sen. Johnson (D.) of Colorado objected, Barkley asked that the limitation be placed on debate Tuesday. Johnson again objected.

Finally, Barkley proposed the Senate agree to vote on all amendments and the bill at 5 p. m. (EST), next Tuesday, but Johnson said he did not believe "we should tie our hands at this time."

Boy With 4 Diseases Fighting for Life

CHEHALIS, Wash., May 4 (INS)—Four diseases at one time today were wracking the tiny frame of 2-year-old Johnny Miers, who fought for his life in the Lewis County Hospital here.

Doctors said the child has developed diphtheria in addition to pneumonia, whooping cough and measles.

Baby Born as Sailor Dad, Plane Victim, Lies in Death

By MARTIN POWERS

LAWRENCE, May 4—This city was stirred by a heartrending story of life and death today as Mrs. Cecile Theriault, 23, gave birth to a daughter only a few hours before the funeral of her sailor husband, who was killed while flying home to be with her when their first baby was born.

Clover Hill Hospital officials revealed that the grief-stricken young Navy wife became the mother of an 8-pound girl at 10:40 last night.

This noon, as she and the babe who will never know her father lay in the hospital, funeral services were held at St. Anne's Church for Seaman 2c Albert E. Theriault, Jr., of Haverhill st., victim of a Rhode Island plane crash while flying home.

Theriault had been given 20 days" leave from the light cruiser Honolulu, berthed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, in order to be with his wife when she was to go to the hospital for her expected baby.

Last Monday, on receiving his leave, he telephoned that he would come home by train.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Theriault was stunned by the tragic news her husband was killed in Charlestown, R. I., when a small training plane crashed. Eager to arrive home in time for the advent of his baby, he had obtained an "air hitch" in the ill-fated plane.

Despite her shock and grief, the young woman was reported in good physical condition following her baby's birth and the child likewise is "doing nicely," hospital officials said.

A nurse, herself showing emotion over the pathetic case, said Mrs. Theriault was bearing up bravely under the double strain of her husband's tragic death and the ordeal of motherhood for the first time.

Man Escapes in Triple Crash

John G. Rudolph, Cross st., Middleton, narrowly escaped death today when his coupe was struck by two street cars traveling in opposite directions on Broadway, at Mt. Vernon st., Somerville.

Rudolph, taken to Somerville Hospital, was released after treatment. None of the 21 passengers claimed injuries.

John Carey, Floyd st., Everett, operated the in-bound car and John J. Brown, Fountain st., Medford, the out-bound car.

Vets Hang OPA Foes in Effigy

HOLLYWOOD, May 4 (AP)—Members of the American Veterans Committee early today suspended dummies high on six lamp posts in various parts of Los Angeles and Hollywood, with placards reading:

"This Congressman committed political suicide. He voted against price control."

Dan Morris, an officer of the local AVC chapter, said today was designated as OPA day throughout the nation by the AVC and that this was the method chosen by the Los Angeles area council to carry out the campaign here.

Ask Grand Jury Probe Of Candidate's Kidnap

Atty. Maurice Goldman, counsel for Thomas J. L. McDonough of Rossiter st., Dorchester, announced today he will demand a grand jury investigation of the "ride kidnaping" on which his client allegedly was forced to sign papers withdrawing as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor's Councilor in the Fourth District.

"This situation is political and is spreading throughout the entire party structure," Goldman said.

Revealing details of the "kidnap" when three men forcibly took McDonough from his home for a "ride" and forced him to sign a withdrawal certificate at 1:30 a. m., yesterday, Goldman said he reported the case to Police Com. Sullivan by telephone at 10:30 a. m., yesterday. He added that Police Supt. Fallon called him back and asked him to send McDonough to headquarters.

Instead, the lawyer disclosed, he notified Public Safety Com. Stokes of the "kidnap," and Stokes sent State Police Lt. John Dempsey and another detective to his office where McDonough gave a statement telling of the "ride."

Goldman said Dempsey then went to the division of elections in Sec. Cook's office, to see who would file McDonough's withdrawal statement. The attorney said that in Dempsey's presence there at 2:30 p. m., Rep. Dennis P. Glynn of Linden Park st., Roxbury, filed withdrawal certificates for six candidates in the governor's councilor race in the Fourth District. One of these was McDonough's. The others filed by Glynn were for Albert L. Fish, John Buckley, former Sen. Robert E. Bigney, John Flaherty and John J. Hughes.

Dempsey said he asked Glynn where he got McDonough's withdrawal certificate, and quoted Glynn as replying: "Somebody gave it to me."

Goldman, who already has taken legal action to keep McDonough's name on the ballot, said his client's landlady, Miss Mary Irene Morris, saw the three "kidnapers" twice and could identify them. The attorney disclosed that the three men paid two visits to the Rossiter st. house where McDonough, a bachelor, has lived for 22 years.

THOMAS J. L. McDONOUGH
Candidate Kidnap Victim

"Posing as police officers, the three first came to the house about 11 o'clock Thursday night. McDonough was out. They waited for about 10 minutes, talked with Miss Morris, and then left," Goldman related.

"They came back to the house between 1 and 1:30 yesterday morning. McDonough had returned only a short time. He had stopped in at a tavern—even as you and I—and someone evidently tailed him home and reported to the three men.

"When they spoke with McDonough they told him they were assigned to probe the legality of his nomination papers and ordered him to accompany them to police headquarters. When he protested, they forced him out of the house and into a car. They drove for about 15 minutes.

"From McDonough's description of the spot where they stopped, I would say it was the South Boston Strandway. He said he remembered concrete, grass and water there. McDonough said he didn't recognize any of the three men as anyone he knew.

"When they reached the spot where the car stopped, one of the men told McDonough, 'Sign these papers or this is the end of your ride.'"

Goldman said his client reported he signed about four papers. The first he signed "Tom" McDonough and was ordered sharply to "sign like you did when you filed your papers." The "kidnapers" had a piece of paper which Goldman believes was a photostatic copy of McDonough's signature and they frequently compared his handwriting.

When they drove McDonough back to his home, they didn't stop the car to let him out, the attorney charged.

"They just slowed down and pushed him into the street," Goldman said. "Miss Morris saw him being pushed."

McDonough is one of seven candidates opposing Councilor John J. Sawtelle for nomination in the Democratic primary. The others are Rep. Patrick J. "Sonny" McDonough, Edward Lowell Davis, Edward L. Murphy, Edward F. Cahalane, J. Ralph Granara and John C. McCluskey.

The certificate was filed later yesterday with the State Division of Elections.

2 Boys at Play Die in Trunk

CHICAGO, May 4 (AP)—The bodies of two small boys missing since Monday, were found in an attic trunk today and Police Capt. Ray Crane said they probably locked themselves in accidentally and died of suffocation.

Chester Lesniewski

Anthony Liczkowski

"They may have been playing cops and robbers when the trunk lid fell down," Capt. Crane said.

The bodies of the boys, Chester Lesniewski, 9, and Anthony Liczkowski, 8, were found in the attic of a bungalow.

The boys were fully clothed and in sitting positions, back to back, in the trunk, police said. One boy clutched a toy pistol.

Ike Says U. S. Bases in Peril

MANILA, May 4 (AP)—The speed of demobilization has seriously handicapped maintenance of vital United States military bases in the Pacific, Gen. Eisenhower said today.

"There are millions of dollars worth of equipment to be taken care of, and no one to take care of it," he said.

"At Honolulu, for instance, the entire Seventh Air Force is down to 404 men. The same general conditions apply elsewhere in the Pacific."

JOE E. BROWN CITED

HOLLYWOOD, May 4 (AP)—A special citation voted by the military order of the Purple Heart has been made to film and stage comedian Joe E. Brown for "meritorious and conspicuous service" in entertaining service men and women at home and abroad in the last four years.

Smart Set Derby Day in Dedham

By BETTY ALDEN

THIS IS DERBY DAY, not only in Kentucky, but also in Dedham where young socialite riders such as Darby Almy, Edith Lyman and Clara Jackson are grooming their hunters for the big Dedham Horse Show on Decoration Day.

All three post debs, and many of their friends, are on the show committee planning the gala event at the Dedham Country and Polo Club, a portion of the proceeds to benefit the American Cancer Society.

The children's classes will start bright and early on the holiday morning and there will be many coveted trophies for adult riders such as the Frederick Page Royce Memorial Challenge Cup for the best New England hunter, the George T. Rice Cup for the best team of hunters and the Mill Farm Trophy for the champion hunter in the show.

Mrs. Robert B. Almy, Mrs. James Jackson and Mr. George T. Rice, who have helped to plan many a Dedham Horse Show, are on the advisory committee. In addition to the post debs above the active committee includes Thomas N. Dabney, chairman; John H. Harwood, Jr., in charge of the gate; Mrs. Horace H. Soule, Jr., ringside parking; Charles H. Wood and Robert B. Almy, outside course and ring; Dr. Ronald M. King and James Jackson, Jr., whose responsibility is providing parking areas.

Darby Almy

All the riders will get together on the eve of the show for a festive horse show dance at the club.

THE WAR DEPRIVED European children not only of food and clothing but also of books, one of the greatest treasures of childhood.

That is why Mrs. H. A. O. Wilson and a large group of New Englanders are working on the Treasure Chest committee to collect books, or funds to buy them, to send to the children of devastated European and Asiatic countries. They are having a tea and exhibit of treasure chests next Friday at 133 Commonwealth ave., with Prof. Jacques Guinard, chief librarian of the University of Bordeau, France, as speaker.

Mrs. Wilson tells us that many European children learned English from American and British soldiers and now ask for books in our language.

Hostesses at the tea will include Mrs. Sarah Allen Beard, Miss Frances C. Darling, Mrs. Clayton Ernst, Mrs. William L. W. Field, Mrs. Richard F. Fuller, Miss Elizabeth Gordon, Mrs. Walter Houston, Mrs. Herbert Loeb, Miss Lee Kingman, Mrs. Andre Morize, Mrs. Albert Navez, Mrs. James Newton, Jr., Miss Mary A. Fate of Slayer In Doubt After Execution Fails

ST. MARTINSVILLE, La. May 4 (AP)—A 17-year-old Negro who survived being strapped in the electric chair and having the switch thrown said "It tickled a little, but didn't hurt much."

The 150-pound youth, Willie Francis, today was in a death cell in the Iberia Parish jail while authorities wondered whether another attempt could ever be made, under the law, to electrocute him.

The Negro was strapped in the chair yesterday and the current was turned on. He squirmed, and then astounded attendants by yelling under the hood, "Take it off! Take it off!"

Francis said "The Lord was with me", when he was taken from the faulty chair, and later in a death cell interview said he was "thinking of going to Heaven"

Gov. Jimmie Davis granted a six-day reprieve. Sheriff Leonard Resweber said he would attempt to have the execution carried out next Thursday.

In the interview Francis, who was convicted of slaying Andrew I. Thomas, a St. Martinsville druggist, answered questions readily.

Asked whether he considered the chair's failure an act of God, Francis replied, "I sure don't know, but I am sure glad about it."

He said he felt "perfectly all right" after he was removed from the chair and was sorry "I killed a man." He said "maybe I'll go to Heaven," and added, "I wonder how it is in Hell."

He described Thomas as "a swell guy," and said he didn't know why he shot Thomas, "because I wasn't after money."

He showed reporters an inscription he had made a month ago on the wall of his cell. It said:

"Practically I killed Andrew by accident. It will happen once in a lifetime. Look where Andrew is today, he's in a lonely, coldly grave. Of course, I'm not a killer. Andrew Thomas is dead. Murder by Willie. Murder at midnight. Willie Francis, 800 Washington st., St. Martinville. Sorry at myself."

In Baton Rouge, Atty. Gen. Fred S. LeBlanc said there was one "line of authority" holding that if a death sentence was not carried out on the date set, it could not again be attempted.

Navy 'Garbage' Tastes O. K. to Congressman

WASHINGTON, May 4 (AP)—Rep. Norblad (R.) of Oregon, ate a luncheon in the House restaurant today of food whtich he said the Navy had classified as "garbage."

His meal consisted of canned meat, cranberry sauce and lemon juice which he said were from stores he reported the Navy had thrown away in "large quantities" on an Astoria, Ore., dumpyard.

"There's nothing wrong with this food," the legislator told onlookers. "It smells good, tastes fine and is perfectly all right."

He added that several Astoria friends of his had eaten similar items without any ill effects, although a Navy official said the food had been thrown away because dysentery cases after use of some of the canned goods.

Cripple Ties Rock To Leg, Drowns

GILBERTVILLE, May 4—Christopher Douglas, 63, a cripple for 22 years, ended his life today by tying a heavy rock to his leg and rolling into the shallow water of a canal at the Gilbert Co. textile mill.

Mrs. Minnie Douglas, the janitor's wife, informed police he had worried over slow recovery from a recent illness. His lameness had resulted from a fall that injured both legs and his back.

LAWRENCE FRANCIS, JR.
Met Same Fate as Brother

Cambridge Boys' Death Probed

Two investigations were started today, one by Dist. Atty. George E. Thompson and the other by the state fire marshal's office, of the circumstances surrounding the fire which claimed the lives of two young boys as it swept their home in Cambridge st., Cambridge.

An autopsy on the victims was performed by Dr. Leo T. Miles, medical examiner.

The victims, Lawrence Francis, Jr., 9, and his brother, Kenneth, 10, had been left in bed by their mother, Mrs. Florence Francis, for only 15 minutes while she went to a nearby theater to bring home her other two children, Lorraine, 11, and Merrill, 7. Their father, Lawrence, was out at the time.

Fire Kills Woman In Cambridge

Mrs. Sarah J. McCabe, 63, of Hampshire st., Cambridge, died of suffocation today as she fled her third-floor apartment, her clothing ablaze from a wood fire she had lighted. Firemen found the door locked, the woman's body wedged against it.

Although Mrs. McCabe had been burned in her flight, the condition of her body indicated death had been caused by smothering, according to Deputy Fire Chief Charles O'Connor.

She is survived by her husband, Thomas, who had gone to work.

GI Bride Changes Mind, Quits Train on Way to Ship

LONDON, May 4 (AP)—A 22-year-old bride of a GI, en route to a ship bound for the United States, looked at May-blooming England today and decided she was "too much in love with my home" to leave it.

"I am sorry for my husband, but I now feel more content and happy that I have come to this decision," said Mrs. June Marsico, wife of Nick Marsico of Elyria, Ohio.

June said she met her husband two years ago when she was working as a U. S. Navy typist in Liverpool. They were married last August shortly before he returned to the United States.

Mrs. Marsico was traveling by train with 20 other GI brides to a staging area today when she decided to get off at London and return to her home in Cheshire because she could not "face up to going to America."

"I'm in a dreadful fix about clothes," she said. "Everything I own except what I was traveling with left Liverpool yesterday in a cargo boat. Goodness knows when I shall get them back, and I have no coupons."

Her sister, Mrs. Rence Mannetta, 25, also a GI bride, is now en route to the United States aboard the S.S. Holbrook. The two girls had petitioned to be allowed to travel together.

Opportunists

ORTONVILLE, Minn., May 4 (AP)—The city council's committee had been worried how it could close the municipal liquor store for a spring clean-up, renovation and paint job.

But the bartenders solved one problem and created another one—they went on strike.

Before the walkout was ended, the committee had completed the job.

BURNED—A sudden flare-up of a box of matches caused painful burns to Marilyn Maxwell, Hollywood actress, as she attempted to strike one of the matches in a West Coast studio. She was treated at the studio hospital.

'Dragonwyck' at Keith Mem

"Dragonwyck," the Gene Tierney-starring film adaptation of Anya Seton's best-seller, today was given its first local showing on Keith Memorial screen.

Walter Huston, Vincent Price and Glenn Langan are importantly featured in this secret, frightening love story set against a background of the turbulent anti-rent rebellion period of the early 19th century.

Miss Tierney, starred in the sensationally successful "Leave Her to Heaven," is seen in the role of Miranda, a wistful, sensitive country girl whose romantic love story has a terrifying sequel. Huston is cast as Gene's stern, stubborn father. Vincent Price plays the imperious and egomaniacal master of Dragonwyck. Glenn Langan has the role of the fighting young physician, who is on the side of Dragonwyck's patroon-dominated renters.

Supporting players include Anne Revere, Spring Byington, Connie Marshall and Henry Morgan.

The companion picture, "Ding Dong Williams," teams Marcy McGuire and Glenn Vernon and introduces the boy pianist, Richard Korbel.

COMEDY HIT AT MODERN

The Crosby-Hope-Lamour comedy hit, "Road to Utopia," is now showing on the Modern screen. The companion film is "They Made Me a Killer," with Robert Lowery and Barbara Britton.

Matinees to Start At Esquire Theater

In order to satisfy public demand for matinee performances of "Henry V," the Technicolor production of Shakespeare's play starring Laurence Olivier, the Esquire Theater will have matinees Thursdays, beginning next week. Blackstone Here for 4th Week

Blackstone, last of the great magicians, will begin a fourth week at the Colonial Theater tomorrow with two extra performances at 2:30 and 8:30 p. m. The local engagement will terminate with the Saturday evening (May 18) performance.

Matinees are also scheduled for Wednesday and Saturday, when programs designed especially to appeal to children, will be given.

The Blackstone program is remarkable for novelty as well as skill. Blackstone crowds no less than 50 different and distinct tricks and illusions into the span of his two and one-half hour "show of 1001 wonders."

Included in the Blackstone illusions are "A Fiesta of Flowers," "A Chinese Fantasy," "Your Handkerchief Becomes Alive," "A Mysterious Dove," "The Pin-Up Girls," "Who Wears the Whiskers," "The Buzz Saw" (A Lady Cut in Half), and Levitation and many more not forgetting the baffling "Hindu Rope Trick."

MAY 1, 1946

THE PRESIDENT
THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON, D. C.

IT IS OUR CONSIDERED BELIEF THAT THIS COUNTRY IS STILL THREATENED BY THE DANGER OF AN UNCONTROLLED INFLATION. THE O.P.A. HAS PROVEN A MOST EFFECTIVE CHECK AGAINST RISING PRICES, AND WE URGE THAT YOU RETAIN THIS AGENCY AGAINST ALL PRESSURES UNTIL SUCH TIME AS PRODUCTION MORE NEARLY BALANCES CONSUMER DEMAND. WE RESPECTFULLY CONCUR IN THE RECOMMENDATION THAT REGULATIONS BE DISCONTINUED ITEM BY ITEM AS CONDITIONS SO WARRANT. IN THE INTERESTS OF ACHIEVING INCREASED PRODUCTION, WE SUGGEST THAT O.P.A. MORE CAREFULLY CONSIDER PROBLEMS OF INDIVIDUAL PRODUCERS IN ORDER THAT DECISIONS MAY BE MADE MORE PROMPTLY THAN IS PRESENTLY THE CASE, AND UNDER EFFECTIVELY DELEGATED AUTHORITY. WE RECOGNIZE THAT THE TASK CONFRONTING O.P.A. IS ENORMOUSLY COMPLEX? AND BUSINESS INTERESTS SHOULD OVERLOOK MINOR ANNOYANCES TO ACHIEVE THE MAJOR OBJECTIVE--THAT OF PROTECTING THE COUNTRY AGAINST RUNAWAY INFLATION.

Glory of Wedding in Church Spells Happiest Time in Girl's Life

By PAULINE WARREN

WHEN THE ORGAN peals in the breathless hush, as you march down the aisle for your rendezvous at the altar with the man - of - your-dreams, you will indubitably be queen of all you survey. For every eye in the church will be upon you—some slightly misty as they see you wreathed in clouds of white, trailing flowers, walking forward to your destiny.

It's your moment.

Perhaps never again will you glow so enraptured, be so thrilling to see.

As the solemn words are intoned over you—"forsaking all others . . . from this day forward to cherish in sickness and in health . . . whom God hath put together . . ." your heart probably beating a fast tattoo to their awesome majesty, you will be the radiation from which stemmed all reason for this soul-stirring solemnity. One little three-letter word from you changed your life and led you to this final consumation.

No other moment in life probably can ever mean so much to you. Some day you will want to tell your children's children about it so they will understand part of their heritage.

Since it is so terrifyingly important, it should be understood as such and its consecration should be made as beautiful as possible. There is no self-robbing so tragic as that of the girl who in reckless haste departs from all tradition and ducks around the corner to be married in a shoddy ceremony. The beauty of a wedding helps to burn in the mind and heart the greatness of the occasion.

So if you're planning to be married—don't throw away one of your greatest prerogatives. Plan a solemn ceremony you can remember with reverence. And since you'll be shining brighter than any star, take the trouble to make sure that the way you look is the way you want to be remembered. Choose a bridal gown to enhance your personality, a gown to make others say: "The bride looked so beautiful . . ."

Choose it carefully, for you may want to hand it down as a family heirloom. Match it to the occasion and to that wonderful man to whom you are entrusting your life.

Write to me care of Boston American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, if you wish advice.

AS CHASTE and concealing as a nun's robe, below, this lyric creation by Traina-Norell is the perfect wedding gown for a memorable church wedding with organ music. Subtly-flattering, white-rayon jersey falls in graceful tucked folds for a reed-slim silhouette. The separate head - dress twines around the throat and head, its long cape replacing the customary bridal veil. Matching its white purity are the bridal diamonds - delicately - shaped leaves on the bodice matching the diamond bracelet and betrothal ring.

CREATED especially for the teen-age bride this little-girl wedding-dress, designed by Marie, has a perky bustle, short puffed sleeves, and a V-shaped figure-hugging bodice set into a waltzing skirt of fine net. Clipped into the net at, and below, the neckline are two diamond stars—gifts from the bridegroom to be handed down as heirlooms of tomorrow. And on that third finger, left hand, is a matching diamond commemorating the engagement.

THIS ENCHANTING version of the ruffle has a detachable, tiered bustle and was created by Ceil Chapman for an outdoor ceremony. Rows on rows of turned-back pouts are sewed on the upper part of the long, tight sleeves and on the back apron, which can be removed to make a simple dance frock. Of frothy marquisette, its beauty will outshine that of any flower in a modest or elaborate garden wedding. The orange blossoms in the headdress are as traditional as the engagement diamond, shining on the third finger.

Nutritional Gold Mine Seen in Now Popular Potatoes

By MARTHA LEE

Household Editor

ONE OF THE BEST buys of the season is the potato. It's plentiful; it's popular; it has menu adaptability; and there is a nutritional gold mine in each tuber. Our farmers planted a colossal crop last year, and dug the second greatest record harvest in history from their fields. This happened before victory found the farmers with several hundred million bushels on their hands. Now, after all the "take" has been deducted (for military, relief feeding, seed, feed, and starch) there will still be two bushels of potatoes for each man, woman, and child in America to consume this year.

So let's eat up. We need potatoes to fill out missing items in our national menu anyway. The potato can pinch-hit for bread now that this standby is a little tight. Recent research reveals that potatoes contain plenty of vitamin C, and some of the B vitamins, iron and phosphorus. All of which makes the plain-Jane potato a Cinderella among the nutritional stars of the food family.

The old notion that potatoes padded the flesh is a bogey-tale, too. It's the butter and gravy ladled over the spuds that puts on the poundage. The potato itself is a modest fellow containing no more calories than an apple or banana.

When it comes to cooking, the potato is a versatile artist. It boils, bakes, fries, scallops, mashes and creams. It goes in breads, puddings, pancakes; makes toppings for meat pies; becomes a savory soup; is indispensible in fish cakes; stretches casseroles and stews. And each of these methods can have endless flavor variations. For the potato is one of those mild mannered foods, pleasing enough in itself, yet sufficiently subdued to be a perfect foil for more pronounced savor. Below are some instances of what we mean:

SCALLOPED POTATOES WITH MUSTARD SAUCE

2 tbsp. margarine, butter or drippings
1 small onion, chopped
1 tbsp. prepared mustard
2 tsbp. flour 1 tsp. salt
4 medium potatoes
1½ cups milk Dash pepper

Melt margarine and add onion. Cook until onion is slightly soft. Add mustard. Remove from heat. Add flour, salt and milk. Heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and the consistency of a thin white sauce. Peel and slice potatoes. Place half of sliced potatoes in a casserole. Add one-half of mustard sauce. Add remaining potatoes and sauce. Sprinkle with pepper. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 1 hour and 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

STUFFED BAKED POTATOES

2 large potatoes, baked
1½ tsp. salt ¼ tsp. pepper
2 tbsp. butter, margarine or bacon fat ⅔ cup hot milk
¼ cup peanut butter

Split baked potatoes lengthwise. Scoop out centers. Mash. Combine with remaining ingredients. Beat until fluffy. Pile lightly into shells. Return to oven to brown. Makes 4 servings.

BROILED POTATO CHIPS

Slice potatoes thin, place on flat pan. Spread with combined condiment sauce and olive oil or cooking fat. Broil.

EGGS BAKED IN POTATOES

Bake large potatoes. If sufficiently large, one potato will serve two, otherwise, allow one potato for each serving. After baking, either cut in half or cut a slice from the side, depending on the size. Remove mealy portion, mash, whip and season well with salt, pepper and melted butter, margarine, or bacon fat. Moisten slightly with milk. Refill shells, making a depression in the center for each sufficiently large to hold an egg. Slip an egg into the center and return potato to oven to bake until egg is set, 10 to 15 minutes.

POTATO CAKES

Shape mashed potatoes into small flat cakes. If richness is desired, add 1 beaten egg to 1 or 2 cups mashed potatoes before shaping. Brown on either side in melted fat. Serve immediately.

Wife Must Apply For Allowance

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

While my husband was on a 90-day re-enlistment furlough, we were married. He wants to apply for the family allowance for me. Whom shall he notify and when will my checks start coming?

SOLDIER'S WIFE

Since you were married while your husband was on re-enlistment furlough, it would be advisable for you yourself to apply for family allowance benefits. A photostatic copy of the marriage certificate must be attached to the application and sent to the Office of Dependency Benefits, Newark 2, N. J. Give your husband's full name and Army Serial Number. As soon as he returns to duty he should notify his personnel officer.

BALANCE THE BUDGET

GOVERNORS of sixteen States, ten of them Republicans and six Democrats, have earnestly proposed to Congress that the best way the Federal Government can assist the American people in restoring national prosperity is to keep its expenditures below the level of its revenues.

In other words, the Governors are proposing that the Federal Government try LIVING WITHIN ITS MEANS as a welcome change from its long-continued policy of spending more money than it takes in.

It is to be wondered if the American people realize how long it has been since their national government has spent less money in any one year than it has taken in.

The last time that happened was in the fiscal year of 1930—and consequently the country is now in its SIXTEENTH CONSECUTIVE YEAR OF DEFICIT SPENDING.

At the time of the last "balanced budget," the consistent and sensible practice of the Federal Government was to keep its current spending sufficiently below its current revenues to permit an annual reduction of the national debt which had soared to twenty-five billion dollars during the first World War.

By virtue of this consistent and sensible practice, the national debt was down to sixteen billion dollars in the fiscal year of 1930—and of course the COST of that enormous debt was also down in proportion.

But under the pressure of the depression the government abandoned its consistent and sensible policy.

THIS ABANDONMENT of policy occurred during the Hoover Administration, and in the Presidential campaign of 1932 Franklin D. Roosevelt denounced it as "the greatest spending Administration in peace time in all our history."

"Let us have the courage to STOP borrowing to meet deficits," said Mr. Roosevelt—and he was elected.

But as President, Mr. Roosevelt did not act according to the sound principle he had espoused as a candidate.

Not in any one of his twelve years as President did Mr. Roosevelt "have the courage to stop borrowing to meet deficits."

TAXES WENT HIGHER UNDER THE ROOSEVELT ADMINISTRATION THAN THEY HAD EVER BEEN BEFORE—ALTHOUGH THEY DID NOT PRODUCE REVENUES IN PROPORTION, BECAUSE THE EARNING POWER OF THE PEOPLE WAS REDUCED.

THE DEPRESSION DID NOT END.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT AND POVERTY OF THE PEOPLE DID NOT END.

The deficits continued every year and were greater every year—and by 1939, when war in Europe injected the artificial stimulation of martial production into the situation, the national debt of the United States was FORTY BILLION DOLLARS.

And then, of course, America got into the war and government spending assumed astronomical proportions—and our present national debt is nearly THREE HUNDRED BILLION DOLLARS.

BUT NOW that the war is OVER, the sixteen Governors earnestly suggest, what is the further necessity—indeed, what is the justification and wisdom—of government spending in excess of its means?

"Our Federal extravagance and improvidence bear a double evil," said Candidate Roosevelt in 1932.

"Our whole people and our business cannot carry its excessive burdens of taxation; our credit structure is impaired by the unorthodox Federal financing made necessary by the unprecedented magnitude of these deficits."

Mr. Roosevelt was RIGHT in 1932, when he called deficit spending "THE TYPE OF INFLATION WHICH HAS WEAKENED PUBLIC CONFIDENCE IN OUR CREDIT BOTH AT HOME AND ABROAD."

America has now had SIXTEEN YEARS of deficit financing in government.

O, you were all my glory, all my pride,
Through life's uncertain path my constant guide.
Listening to you my cares were charmed to rest,
And love and silent rapture filled my breast,
Unheeded the gay moments took their flight.
And time was only measured by delight.

—ELIZABETH SINGER ROWE.

THERE HAVE been hundreds of poems written by husbands in praise of wives. Above is one of the few poems written by a wife in praise of a husband . . . A stargazer says if I give him the date of my dog's birth he will send me his horoscope. I don't know the exact date of the noble little animal's birth. However, I do know he was born under the sign of Aquarius, just the same as Abraham Lincoln, Lord Byron, Robert Burns, Charles Dickens, Thomas Edison, Wolfgang Mozart, Sir Henry Irving, John Barrymore and Clark Gable. No wonder he is such a remarkable animal!

PLEASE NOTE: Ever hear of a town where a couple with 10 children is considered a small family? Plessisville, Quebec, is such a place. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tardif of that town have 25 children, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bernard have 23, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Vigeault have 22, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cagon have 20. Also in Plessisville are two families with 17 children, five with 16, seven with 15, 11 with 14 and 18 with 12. There are no less than 41 families with 10 children. In all, Plessisville has 128 families with a total of 1570 children.

EXPERT'S OPINION: If there is four inches' difference between a woman's ankle and calf measurements, and seven inches' difference between her calf and thigh measurements she has a perfect leg. That's what Willy de Mond, Hollywood expert on the subject, continues to claim. An example of measurements fitting these specifications are those of Evelyn Keyes which are: Ankle, 8¼ inches, calf 12½ inches, thigh, 19¼ inches. Have your wife check on this. If the little lady's limbs have the "perfect" measurements, maybe you could enter her in that Mrs. America bathing beauty contest.

Evelyn Keyes

IDEAL MATES: "The highest percentage of contented married men is found among those having Aries-born (March 22-April 20) wives," writes a Chicagoan. "The Aries gals are the only ones I know of who do not start that old 'where in the world have you been?' routine when papa shows up after a lost weekend. The Aries has no possessiveness in her make-up. She has no inclination to criticize, and therefore never nags. These are two of the major factors in her success as a wife."

SUGGESTION: Now Frank Sinatra is to appear in the film "It Happened in Brooklyn." This may be inadvisable. There have been too many films about Brooklyn lately. It might be better if Frank appeared in one titled "It Happened in Jersey City." That could be good, too.

Frank Sinatra

PASSING BY: Geraldine Rhoads, Magazine editor. Is said of Geraldine that she "edits for women with a woman's understanding." Quite so. But still some of the most successful editors of magazines for women have been men. For example, Edward Bok.

WHEN TO MARRY: According to some modern medical authorities, the best age for girls to marry is between 17 and 18. This is in accord with the advice given by Aristotle over 2000 years ago: "It is fitting for the women to be married at about the age of 18, and the men at 35 or a little before."

QUERY FROM CLIENT: Q—Why are there so many references to "dumb blondes" and none to "dumb brunettes?" Are brunettes really more intelligent than blondes? What have you in your Horses & Women files on this? A—I do not believe there is any relation between the color of a woman's hair and her degree of intelligence. However, there is a connection between hair coloring and character. For example, an attractive hair coloring makes a woman vain. A coloring that is not attractive, such as that of a so-called "dishwater blonde," can give a woman an inferiority complex. Also, blondes have more confidence in themselves than brunettes, but not so much as red-heads.

THESE DAYS

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

GEORGE FIELD, executive secretary of Freedom House, protests an article I wrote criticizing Rex Stout's burlesque pillory of six American citizens, Sen. Theodore Bilbo, Upton Close, Col. Robert R. McCormick, John O'Donnell, John Rankin and Gerald L. K. Smith, whose views differ from his.

Senator Bilbo

In my article, I never mentioned Freedom House, not knowing that that organization had gone into the burlesque business.

This is what Mr. Field has to say:

". . . . (Sokolsky) excoriates Rex Stout for placing certain 'Americans' into the 'Good, old-fashioned pillory-box,' among them, Sen. Theodore Bilbo, John O'Donnell, John Rankin and Gerald L. K. Smith.

"Where should one place them, Mr. Sokolsky?

"To keep the record straight, Freedom House not long ago refused to accept a $5000 contribution to its Willkie memorial building from the Communist Party, and accompanied this refusal with a strongly worded letter of opposition to this organization."

Now I do not know what the Communists' attempt to contribute $5000 to the Willkie memorial building fund has to do with the good taste and decency of Rex Stout's house party to ridicule six American citizens.

Certainly, if the Communists liked Wendell Willkie, that was their privilege. If he liked them, that was his privilege. It was also Mr. Field's privilege not to take the money.

But his last paragraph is non-sequitur since what we are discussing is the lumping of unassociated men into an artificial association, hiring actors to impersonate them, accusing them of misdemeanors and felonies without giving them a chance to defend themselves, and charging $7.50 for the fun.

MR. FIELD would like to know "where should one place" these six American citizens.

That is clearly not his business nor mine. They have their constitutional civil rights and it is not for us to interfere with them.

If any one of these six has committed an offense under the civil or criminal laws, there are police and law officers whose duty it is, under the law, to punish them.

If they have committed an offense under the moral codes of mankind, they will suffer the condemnation of society and they may some day have to make their peace with God.

But in a society of free men, those who differ from others in thought are entitled to the protection of the law.

Mr. Field, I am sure, will have to agree with me that it was a disgrace for American veterans, in full uniform, to march, as they did on May 1 in New York, in a fifth column parade.

Yet, here in America, we let them march. We even permit them to speak. We even permit them to speak foolishly.

It is because we believe in human freedom.

OF COURSE, if they committed an overt and illegal act, they should be arrested by the properly constituted officers, tried in a duly constituted court, preferably by a jury; they would have right of representation by counsel, and the sentence could not be excessive. That is the American way.

I should like to know, chapter and section, precisely what laws these six men have broken and why, if they have broken them, the law officers do not take the required action?

I do not agree with the opinions of these six. Sen. Bilbo, for instance, voted for most of the New Deal measures to which I am opposed.

Nevertheless, unless it is recognized that he has a right of choice which may be different from mine, we cannot maintain a free society.

Or take the matter of John Rankin. He has made some very nasty speeches about my kinsmen which must include me.

I do not like those speeches.

But if I stop him from saying what he chooses within the law to say, I must attack the entire structure of our free society.

I DO NOT SAY that anyone should break up Mr. Stout's pillory party. In fact, I advertised it beyond its deserts.

But I maintain my right to say that the intimidation of individuals for differences of thought and attitude, by coercion, boycott, humiliation and the use of force and money, is contrary to the spirit of the American people.

Hollywood

By Dorothy Manners
Substituting for Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 4—Robert Cummings will be "Mr. Lamb" in "The Stray Lamb" when Bill Cagney starts the Thorne Smith comedy this summer. Remember I said Jimmy Cagney was growing a beard for the part of the Gaelic magician in this picture? But, first, James will do "13 Rue Madeleine" at 20th for his old friend, Darryl Zanuck. Believe me, he hated like thunder to part with that lovely red "brush". he had been cultivating so passionately for the past few weeks.

Jimmy Cagney

Working with Bob and Cagney in "The Stray Lamb" will be a kangaroo, already trained and standing by with a pouch full of tricks. The critter is becoming the biggest "ham" in town, loving the publicity pictures that are being made of him and boxing his "stand-in" out of camera range whenever he tries to sneak into a shot.

LITTLE ELIZABETH TAYLOR is about to be launched as a star on her own without help from either Lassie or King Charles, the horse she rode in "National Velvet." MGM has bought a story called "Spindle Age," an original by Margaret Craven, which permits Elizabeth to emote minus menagerie. It's about a girl on the threshold of adolescence who wants two things in life—glamor and a beau. The picture will be produced by Ralph Wheelwright, who just finished "Two Smart People."

GUESS WHOM they want for Katie, the American girl, in "Arch of Triumph"? Katharine Hepburn, if you please, and she would be wonderful as the fatally ill woman in Ravic's life. Hepburn is very interested and eager to do it because David Lewis, who is producing for Enterprise, is a close personal friend. Of course, MGM might not be as enthusiastic about loaning Miss H. A contract definitely signed, however, is with Edith Head, Para clothes designer, who will whip up those raincoats for Ingrid Bergman.

"THE LIFE OF HOUDINI," planned by David Selznick for so long, is finally going to be made—but not by David. George Moscov and Raoul Pago, heads of Appalo Pictures, have bought the rights and already signed Norman Foster to direct the movie in Mexico. The picture will be based on the story written by Houdini's widow and the book by Harold Kellock called "The Life Story of Houdini." Now Moscov and Pago are on the trail of a top Hollywood star to play Houdini.

A NEWSY LETTER from New York saying: "Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh are all over the town trying to see as many shows as possible in one week before Larry opens with the Old Vic Company. Leigh looks wonderful — you would never know she had been so ill. In six weeks they return to London where Vivien will resume "Skin of Our Teeth," interrupted by her illness, but they will be back here for the premiere of "Henry V." They are like kids at a picnic—marveling over the food, clothes, shops and the abundance of everything over here after the scanty, bleak war years in London."

THE WAY Joe E. Brown loves that little girl of his is wonderful. He's been promised a month's vacation from "Harvey" and wants it right after the show closes in Seattle. That will be around June 8 when Mary undergoes final surgery on her leg. Joe E. will then have his vacation while Mary convalesces at the new beach home he just bought at Malibu.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Rita Hayworth and the baby have moved to the Joe Cottens' while her house is being painted. The Cottens sure come in handy; Orson moved in with them when he and Rita rifted; the Brenda Marshall-Bill Holden junior-mister has been named Scott Porter Holden; add congrats to the Murphy McHenrys who welcomed another little press agent Thursday; Artie Shaw thinks a musician should play the late Glenn Miller in the movies and the musician he thinks should play Miller is Artie Shaw; now it's "Never Amber" all over town—but if it's any satisfaction to Peggy Cummins, she's getting plenty of praise for her good sportsmanship and willingness to prove her mettle in another picture. She hasn't had much luck since she came from England — first a broken romance, then three physical collapses, then the "Amber" debacle. Give this kid a nice big hand for the way she's taking it.

VIRGINIA FIELD, back from New York after five weeks' visit with hubby Paul Douglas, says she fell in love with him all over again in "Born Yesterday"; Charles Skouras entertained in honor of Eddie Silverman, popular Chicago theater chain owner, and his wife; Francis X. Bushman and Herbert Rawlinson, the silent screen vets, go into Irna Phillips' radio show "Masquerade" when it moves from Chicago to the coast; nothing but raveroos over Joan Crawford in "Humoresque"—already spotted as a potential Oscar winner. Joan tossed a small cocktail party for Van Johnson, the David Nivens, Clifton Webb, Otto Preminger and Ruth Waterbury; Jeanne Crain and Paul Brooks taking it easy dining at the Savoy. Jeanne's going easy on night life; Geraldine Fitzgerald gets back from New York next week still mum on her marital status. That's all today. See you Monday.

Boston After Dark

A WEEK AGO TODAY this column reported the imminent sale of the Hotel Somerset to the Hilton hotel chain, of San Francisco, New York and other places including—we think—Boston . . . Edward Bryce Bell, managing director of the Somerset and president of the operating corporation, is fuming with wrath at our temerity in discussing the transaction, we are informed.

In short angry words, Mr. Bell is reportedly denying the substance of our story . . . Then what is a representative of the Hilton chain doing day in and day out on the Somerset's premises? . . . A postscript to this paragraph is our grievous disappointment in Managing Director Bell, whose memorable opening night speech at the Somerset's unveiling will live long in the memories of the thousands who heard it . . . Managing Director Bell was one of this column's favored pets—just on the ring of his name and his reputed firm personality, no doubt, because it has as yet not been our good luck to meet him in person . . . Our disappointment stems from the failure of Mr. Bell to come with his complaints about this column to the man directly responsible for giving him something to complain about . . . And that would be we, or us. (And we add here to our story.)

ANOTHER FAVORITE character of this impulsive pillar, on the other hand, has given us cause to glow with pride . . . He is Maxwell (Mack) Shapiro, as kindly and gentle and generous a human being as we have found since the discovery of Gene Fowler, the author. (Gene's new book, "Solo in Tom Toms," is as good in its modest and leisurely way as his "Good Night Sweet Prince"—an ode to the late John Barrymore— was excellent in its unstudied harumscarum way.)

OUR MAXWELL ONCE sold this newspaper at the South Station, for George S. "Snap" Cohen and a biscuit a day, to help support other little Shapiros and a hard working mother in a Salem st. tenement . . . Now he is "Mr. Woolens" (and we don't mean merely underwear) . . . Mack was guest of honor at a dinner given by his comrades of the old Dorchester A. L. Post in Whidden Hall . . . The hall was filled to overflowing . . . Mack was given a plaque inscribed with words of esteem . . . If the recipients of Mr. Shapiro's benefactions had signed their names to that plaque—as hundreds of them probably would like to do—we could be reading a roster of the best names in America, the names of those who distribute charity to the needy with nothing coming off the top . . . Father Flanagan of Boystown would be proud to be a signatory, and so would the Rev. Charles Phelan, S. J., whose efforts in behalf of the B. C. High building fund are being inspired continually by the big-hearted little tycoon from Harrison ave. . . . It was about time that someone honored Maxwell Shapiro openly and publicly . . . The nicest surprise of the evening was that the modest Mack got up enough courage to show up at his own honorary dinner.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Atty. Gus Arola, the Revere leader who served eight terms in the House of Representatives, is on the verge of yielding to the insistence of hundreds of fellow citizens that he run for mayor on the GOP ticket . . . A shakeup of high executives in one of Boston's leading mercantile establishments is the talk of downtown . . . The Letendre shooting had repercussions in far distant Miami . . . The bookie shops are shut up tight, and the officials are frank to attribute the "clean-up" to the Woonsocket violence . . . Bernard Sheperd Snider, owner of the Fensgate, and a group of Boston associates, are planning to make Wentworth Hall in Jackson, N. H., an all-year-round hotel with particular accent on winter sports. Wentworth Hall is a putt and a drive from Eastern Slope's towering Cannon Mountain.

BOSTONIANS can find a "local" interest in today's Kentucky Derby. Earl Porter, who rode so sensationally for Sheldon H. Fairbanks the first season of New England racing at Rockingham, is trainer of a 20-1 shot called With Pleasure . . . We are riding with Marine Victory because Jim Murphy, m. e. of the Record, has $2 on that steed's breezer and Jim has not lost a Derby in — in — oh, let us say two years . . . The Latin Quarter swings open its doors again tonight. While the Latin Quarter was closed, the Mayfair did its biggest business since Sophie Tucker . . . The Ritz boys have made the Bradford Roof hum, as was expected . . . In buying a new car—or in case you can't buy a new car—it may be worth remembering that the next year's (1947) models will be rolling off the assembly lines—with the kindly permission of John L. Lewis—in September . . . Speaking of John L. Lewis, we hear that the CIO, from which Come-Out-of-the-Bush-Face recently bolted, has decided to take no active part in any major political contest in Massachusetts this election.

Brighter Side

By Damon Runyon

I WOULD LIKE to have the scientists and philosophers and economists and other wise guys of the world tell me this:

Why does bad luck persistently pursue certain individuals? Why does it get on the tail of some one man and hang there for weeks and months and years harassing him with all kinds of misfortune?

Damon Runyon

Tell me, youse muggs, who are supposed to be so hep, why one man who has lived a life of purity is afflicted with poverty and illness while a wicked neighbor prospers and thrives?

Perhaps I should put it in simpler terms. I will take the card game known as gin rummy which is the simplest thing I know.

Gin rummy is a game that was invented for companionship and laughs.

I CAN REMEMBER when the fun of gin was in having kibitzers who would advise on plays and there would be a million laughs when the advice went wrong as it usually did but then it became a high stakes game and the kibitzers were barred from opening their traps, even though they might be betting on a player.

TWO OF THOSE Hollywood gin starkers were playing. They could have been Zeppo Marx and Norman Zanack, both Class AAA, though I am not sure. On picking up their hands, one found himself with three aces, the other with three deuces. To keep from giving the other gee an open card, meaning a card that might complete a sequence, M., we will say discarded all his aces and Z. all his deuces.

Each needs a low card to knock. One draws. Nothing. The other draws. Bing. Down with two. The next deal, the first man throws a card that by every law of average, gravitation and nature should be dead safe. The other guy grabs it. Boff. Gin. Another deal and the second guy knocks with 10 only to find he has overlooked a four of clubs among his cards so he has too many points in his duke to go down and has to play his cards showing and his opponent beats him out.

He is undercut four times in a row and blitzed two consecutive frames. We are playing the Hollywood style, understand, three games at a time. He overlooks a card that would have filled a run and permitted him to knock. His opponent thrice overlooks plays and it makes no difference. All night long our luckless character is belted around until his very senses are numb.

WHY IS THIS? I mean why does bad luck pursue this one man? Would you not think that it would finally take pity on the poor soul and relieve him of some of the punishment?

I put my thought in terms of a gin rummy game, but I can apply it to stud poker, if you like, or to life in general.

Sal Bartolo at His Best As He K. O.'s Armstrong

By JACK CONWAY

SAL BARTOLO, pride of East Boston, today still holds his NBA world's featherweight championship as a result of his smashing six-round knockout of the veteran Jack (Spider) Armstrong before 7614 cash customers at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden. Bartolo put up his greatest fight as a champion. He was faster than Armstrong, proved a superior boxer, and was much the harder hitter.

Sal Bartolo

Armstrong found it is one thing to conquer inexperienced boxers like Buddy Hayes and Jackie Harris, and quite another feat to make a creditable showing against a highly polished fistic machine like Bartolo.

Armstrong did not win a single round. Bartolo was in complete command of the situation from the opening gong until Referee Tommy Rawson counted Armstrong out after 2m. 16s. of battling in the sixth round.

Bartolo gave the crowd a real thrill as he knocked Armstrong out. Sal had previously riddled Armstrong with left jabs and hooks, and had slowed him down with crushing right-hand blows to the head and body. Bartolo knew he had his man and he went about the task of finishing him like a perfect workman.

Sal shot a series of fast left-hand punches to the head.

Armstrong was backed into a neutral corner, and he fought as best he could. This is just what Bartolo wished him to do. Sal cut loose with a series of left and right-hand blows to the body, and then quickly lifted his attack to the jaw.

The payoff punch was an overhand right smash to the jaw. There was great power behind the blow, and it was delivered with sharpness and perfect co-ordination of the muscles of the right arm and shoulder.

Armstrong crumbled and fell to the canvas where he rolled over on his back. It was apparent the badly beaten ring veteran would be unable to get up. At the count of ten, Armstrong made an attempt to regain his feet and failed. Referee Rawson pointed to Bartolo as the winner and still NBA world's featherweight champion. Joe Blumsack and Jim Shaughnessy were judges.

ARMSTRONG was dazzled and confused by Bartolo's speed. The veteran could not keep up with the maddening pace which Bartolo set.

The titleholder did one thing in the bout that few modern boxers even attempt. He scored repeatedly with a double left jab. When Bartolo would land with his first jab, he would pull his gloved duke back three to four inches and with his shoulder solidly behind the punch drive forward again.

Bartolo was first at all times. Armstrong hit him with a couple of right-hand punches, but the blows landed high and did little damage.

Bartolo's weight was 126 pounds, the limit for the featherweight class, while Armstrong was 125½ pounds.

JIMMY SAUER, 150, of Cambridge scored an easy victory over Tony Petro, 156, of Boston; Al Smith, 131½, Roxbury, outscored Bob English, 130, Fall River; Major Jones, 147, of Kansas City, a former amateur star, won the verdict over Joe Keyes, 150, of New York.

In four-rounders, Bernie Cummings, 171, Boston, knocked out Chuck Doyle, 168¾, Fall River, in a round; Frankie Waters, 131, Boston, stopped Felix LeBlanc, 135, Fall River, in two rounds.

Joey LaMotta and Joe Blackwood, who recently fought a draw at the Garden, will top the Goodwin Club's Garden card next Monday night.

Magic Coin Wins

Jack Conway's Magic Coin clicked once again when Sal Bartolo retained his NBA world's featherweight championship in the Garden bout with Jack (Spider) Armstrong as the coin said he would.

This gave the Magic Coin wins in both of the title bouts in Boston this week; Tippy Larkin won over Willie Joyce as predicted.

The Magic Coin has come up with 21 winners out of the last 24 choices.

Ted Ahead of '41 Mark But Dom's Setting Pace

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Ted Williams was batting .324 on May 4, 1941, the year he wound up .406. Today, for all his walks and all his illnesses, he's batting .350. Today he faced No-hit Bob Feller, and before the war he had a four-year average against Feller of .414. Can Williams repeat that 1941 feat of legerdemain? That was the thought in most persons' minds today as Feller squared off against Jim Bagby at Fenway Park.

"Williams, Williams, always Williams!" complained Frank Simonetti. "Don't you ever mention Dom DiMaggio?"

That was another thought. But Williams had won Thursday's game against Detroit with a homer in the 10th and Williams had hit a homer in the eighth as the Sox made it eight in a row (9-4) over the Cleveland Indians.

How can you get away from him?

"DiMaggio is leading ihm in everything," Simonetti complained. "I'll say he's a better all-round ball player than Williams."

That isn't smart, Frank. The Sox are riding the heap. They've won 14 games, lost 3. They look like a shoo-in for the pennant. (It's between the Sox and the Yanks," Cleveland and Detroit writers insist). Why start that stuff? Is it to cause dissension?

"No, no, just look up DiMaggio's record."

Dom has quite a record at that! He might be one of the best 10 sluggers of the majors if he batted No. 5 or 6 as he was in 'Frisco with the minors. Hasn't he proved it?

We'll give Dom credit. He has been hobbling around on a bad leg ever since the Sox played the Cincy Reds in Dothan, Ala., April 4, just a month ago today. He never asks for a day off. He stuck in there. Had he laid off for a couple of days after Dotham, he might have been fit for a flying start.

He started the season, as a matter of fact, but he had to lay off the entire series in Philadelphia last week-end. Yet, as Simonetti points out, he's leading the club in hitting (.404), he's made as many hits as Doerr, and he's saved so many runs by his miraculous catches that he looks like the Most Valuable Player on the club.

The season is young yet. We will agree, that DiMaggio has been as valuable as anybody in the club to date. And we hope he can stay away from the lead-off spot.

Harris didn't pitch his best game but he was adequate as he got the 9-4 decision. At least he got the satisfaction of knocking Red Embree out of the undefeated class. The Cleveland right-hander had held the Browns and Tigers to two hits in 21 innings before he faced the Red Sox in the Ladies' Day game . . . It was anybody's game until the fifth when the Sox scored three runs on three squashy hits. Best hit ball of the inning was DiMaggio's drive to the left field wall that Case took in. DiMaggio previously had doubled twice.

The Sox haven't lost a game since they took that 12-5 drubbing from the Yankees one week ago Wednesday. According to the record, the Sox have won eight in a row only three other times . . . The A. L. record is 19 in a row held by the White Sox, the N. L. record 26 in a row, held by the Giants . . . St. Louis Browns here tomorrow (Sunday) and hope you got your tickets early.

Two Marlins Die in Duel Over Rubber

HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 4 (AP)—The duel, possibly to death between two marlin was suggested today after the study of a bale of crude rubber which was recently washed ashore on a Bermuda beach and contained the bills, or swords, of the combating fish.

Maj. Louis Mowbray, curator of the Bermuda aquarium, inspected the find today and theorized that the fish impaled the bale at the same time, each swimming at terrific speed. The bills, which penetrated the rubber from opposite sides, were broken off in the crash.

The rubber was so hard Major Mowbray was unable to cut it with a sharp knife.

Accountant Victor in British Amateur Tilt

LONDON, May 4 (AP)—Ian Patey, 37-year-old accountant, won the English amateur golf championship today by defeating RAF Sgt. Ken Thom, 5 and 4, over the Royal Midsurrey course.

The score of both players skyrocketed under the pressure. Patey won the match on the first 18 holes of the 36-hole match with an 80 that gave him a five-hole advantage. Thom needed an 85 over the 6415-yard links. It was Patey's first major tournament title since 1936.

N. E. Champ Driver At Tiverton Track

TIVERTON, R. I., May 4—New England champion Bobby Blair of Dedham, driving a new V-8, will be shooting for his second straight triumph of the season tomorrow night when he takes his place at the starting line for the weekly floodlight program of midget auto races.

In the point race for the crown, Eddie Casterline of Malden holds an edge over the defending titlist with Joe Sostilio, Newton, and Ralph Moody, Taunton, up close to the front.

Prior Files For Medford Job

Johnnie Prior, former Harvard athlete and the present coach of hockey at Medford High, and football at Malden Catholic High, has filed his application for the newly-created office of director of athletics in the Medford school system.

Former Medford coach, Tom O'Connor, a Navy veteran, and now Prior, head the list of applicants for the position.

Reiser Mulling Over Mex Offer Of $100,000

ST. LOUIS, May 4 (AP)—Pete Reiser, Brooklyn's slugging outfielder third baseman is seriously considering a $100,00 offer to play in the Mexican baseball league, he disclosed last night.

Reiser conferred with Mario Loussac, a reported agent of the Pasquel brothers, for more than two hours over an offer of $100,000 for three years. He would receive half the money in cash upon signing. The entire amount would be tax-free.

"I don't know what to do," the 27-year-old ex-GI said, "I've been in the Army three years and now suddenly I have been presented with an opportunity to make a lot of money. I would have to be in the big league a long time to make an equal amount."

Reiser said he had until this morning to give his answer.

"But I want time to think it over," he smiled. "It's an important decision and a hard one to make. It means so much to me."

Reiser admitted he probably would like neither the climate nor the food in Mexico, but kept repeating "it's a lot of money."

It was the third offer Reiser has received in the last couple of weeks. He originally was offered $15,000 per year for five years and a $15,000 bonus, which he turned down.

Only last week-end, during the Dodger-New York Giants series at the Polo Grounds, Loussac raised the offer to $75,000 for three years and again Reiser declined.

"They want me a whole lot," said the St. Louis born star. "They even invited me to phone Mickey Owens in Mexico and ask him how he likes it down there."

Rizzuto Rejects Mexican Offer

NEWARK, N. J., May 4 (AP)—Phil Rizzuto, New York Yankee shortstop, said last night at his home in Hillside he had turned down a Mexican League offer of $100,000 and would remain with the New York team.

"I told them that I didn't think the offer was enough to make up for all the other inconveniences, but I certainly wasn't waiting for them to raise the ante," Rizzuto said.

"Those Pasquels are really high pressure guys. They toss those figures around as if they were pitching pennies, but I definitely didn't commit myself, as Barnardo Pasquel intimated today at this press conference I've been hearing so much about," Rizzuto said.

"Naturally when they slap you in the face with $100,000 you are tempted to grab it," he smiled, "but I am glad that I was able to take a deep breath and look a little deeper into the matter."

Zoldak Looms As Coming Ace Of Browns Staff

(AP)—Sam Zoldak, an obscure lefthander from Brooklyn, who spent two long years trying to convince Manager Luke Sewell that he could be a big league winner if given the chance, gives promise today of establishing himself as the ace of the St. Louis Browns mound staff.

The Polish portsider, who pitched the Browns into third place in the American League yesterday with a seven-hit 5-1 victory over the Senators, earned his spurs the hard way.

After waiting two full seasons—until the very last day of the 1945 campaign—to receive his initial starting assignment in the big time, all the 23-year-old youngster had to do was outpitch the fabulous Bobby Feller. The Cleveland fireballer pitched a five-hitter that day but Zoldak went him one better, winning the game 2-1 with a four-hitter.

That victory was only Zoldak's third in two years. The other two he earned earlier in the season in relief.

Even after licking Feller, Sewell hesitated to make Zoldak a regular starter, but after gaining the Browns' initial victory this season with a fine relief performance, Sam earned a starter's role. He rewarded his manager with a 2-0 three-hit job against the Chicago White Sox last Friday and followed it up yesterday with his third straight victory to give the Browns an even 8-8 won and lost record for the season.

As good as was Zoldak's work, there were three better pitching performance yesterday. No less than three shutouts were turned in with Allen Gettel's probably the most significant. Gettel thwarted the Tigers with only two hits as the Yankees handed the champions their fifth straight defeat, 2-0. The victory came at the expense of Dizzy Trout, an old Yankee nemesis.

Johnny Schmitz, Cubs' lefthander, was credited with a 1-0 shutout over the Giants but a fine relief job by Hi Bithorn made it possible.

Al Jurisich, Phils' righthander purchased from the Cardinals last winter, blanked the Reds 1-0 with four hits to record his second victory.

The White Sox overcame a four-run deficit in the sixth inning to defeat the Athletics 8-5. Murrell Jones hammered a three-run homer in the seventh to provide the Sox with the margin of victory.

WALTER JOHNSON 'FAIR'

Saleau Coach at Franklin and Marshall

LANCASTER, Pa., May 4 (AP)—Charles R. Saleau, quarterback on the 1932 Colgate University football team that went through the season undefeated and untied, is the new hear football coach at Franklin and Marshall College.

Soleau's appointment was announced by F. & M. officials yesterday. He has held coaching posts at Colgate, Lafayette and Amherst Colleges.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—

Baseball Comr. A. B. Chandler announced he was shifting his headquarters from Chicago to Cincinnati.

Sun Breaks Through For Derby Classic

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 4 (AP)—Col. Matt Winn's Derby-day luck—a tradition of the race tract—held up through most of the morning today and a meek sun greeted the vanguard of a vast crowd of 100,000 expected to be on hand for the 72nd run for the roses at 5:15 p. m. (CDT).

Through the forenoon, this mild sun fought it out with the clouds, but the darkening skies were slowly winning out and held a threat for Derbytown's seventh straight day of rain and gooey going for the 17 3-year-olds shooting at the big end of the $100,000 pot.

At 11 a. m. with the track officially classed as "muddy," there had not been a single scratch from the field of 17 horses entered through the secretary's office yesterday, although R. S. McLaughlin's Wee Admiral remained on the somewhat doubtful list.

Art Brent, veteran trainer of the Canadian campaigner—who likes a fast track far more than mud—said early today he would definitely start if it came up sloppy, but would not decide until noon or later today what to do if the footing was muddy or slow. A fast track horse finds it easier to step in the slop here, because of the unusuall running surface.

Any horse has until 45 minutes before post time to pull out of the race.

For hours during the morning the track workmen circled the strip and swept the standing pools of water off the running area and under the inside rail and harrows combed the Downs in sweep after sweep around the oval.

Meantime the thousands jamming Louisville were taking their time turning out, probably because of the combined circumstances of a night of the wildest kind of celebrating in mid-town Derbyville and the threat of rain. By 11 a. m. one hour before post time for the first race of the nine-race card, there were no more than 25,000 in the unreserved sections of the grandstand and bleachers and in the infield.

Exactly at 10:55 a. m. the first of the bands—representing Fort Knox—paraded in, giving out with "The Old Gray Mare." This was followed four minutes later by the day's first rendition of "My Old Kentucky Home" which brought everyone to their feet, and the State Militia Guards in the infield to attention.

A huge band of naval trainees from the University of Louisville swept in right behind the soldiers rattling the centerfield odds board with "Beer Barrel Polka."

All over the Downs, Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's Maine Chance Farm entry of Lord Boswell, Knockdown and Perfect Bahram was talked of as the solid choice for the Derby, with Lord B. as the big horse of the trio and Spy Song, Rippey and Hampden, front-running speed boys, as the ones most likely to spring the upset in what was one of the widest open Derbies in years.

The jockey lineup for the Derby was completed in mid-morning with the nomination of J. Raymond Layton, 36-year-old native of Dublin, Ireland, to ride the outsider, Jobar, from the barn of Howard W. Fielding of Rydal, Pa. Previously, Layton and the veteran Nick Wall had both been considered for the assignment.

Nelson Happy To Meet Briton

By BYRON NELSON

I more than welcome the opportunity of playing Dick Burton, the British Open Champion, which Elmer Ward has provided me by inviting the Englishman to this country for a special match, starting May 29, which will be part of the $10,000 Goodall Round Robin Golf Championship at Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N. Y., to be played May 20 to June 2.

Elmer Ward is a very successfull business man who has made a fortune in the fabric business and golf is his hobby. In fact, as I understand it, Ward was a New England Amateur Champion himself, but he is too busy now for anything except informal golf. This tournament, which he inaugurated in 1938 in Cincinnati and then moved east the following year, is one way he indulges in his hobby.

The Goodall Round Robin Golf Championship, which is nothing more than a battle royal of golf, was discontinued because of war conditions in 1941 after it was won by Paul Runyan. Ward had no idea of abandoning it forever and went to work reviving it soon after V-J Day. It is really a singles adaptation of the Inverness Round Robin Four-Ball Invitational Championship, which will be held late in June this year and about which I will write more at a later date.

The Goodall brings together 15 of the outstanding professional golfers in an event in which no golfer is ever eliminated and in which every golfer meets every other golfer at least once. The victor is determined by a plus and minus system of scoring on points awarded for holes won and subtracted for holes lost.

Ward has matched me against Burton in a manner that should even add zest to a tournament which is one of the stiffest competitive tests we're called upon to undergo during the season. On Wednesday, the 29th, the day before the actual Goodall competition gets under way, Burton and I will play 18 holes of our 36-hole match. On Thursday we will complete the match, playing the second 18 as part of one of the threesomes while actually participating in the Round Robin championship.

Catholic High Schools May Pass Up State Track Meet

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Although the Headmasters' Ass'n has finally cleared the way for the Catholic schoolboys to qualify for the State Track championships to be held at Newton's Dickinson Field, May 25, it's doubtful if more than two or three—if that number—will take advantage of the opening this season.

As in the past, the "delaying tactics" of the Ass'n prevented a wholesale entry list from the private schools who'll be passing up the State affair for their own meet at St. John's of Danvers on that same afternoon.

Brother Gerard of St. John's has stated definitely that there'll be no shift in the original plans. It's impossible to change at this time. One week earlier, the schools will be competing in the Andover games. A week later, they'll be holding "Outing Day" at St. John's—a function that was scheduled early in the year. Moving into June, a meet might interfere with final exams and even graduations.

To date, only one school is listed as a probable entry in the State Meet—Boston College High—and that will be decided next week by a vote of the members of the squad. Otherwise, the field at Danvers for the Catholic meet (increased to 10 last year with St. John's winning) will be fairly intact—or possibly increased—with close to 40 invitations in the mail throughout the state.

Two years ago, this Catholic meet attracted only four schools. Last year, the number increased to 10. This spring, the list will include St. Sebastion's of Newton along with St. John's (D); St. Mary's (W); St. Mary's (B); Lawrence Central; Keith Academy; Mission; St. Joseph's Juniorate; Malden Catholic and (maybe) B. C. H.

St. John's, host team, had a possibility of breaking three boys into the point scoring in State competition. Jack Preston, cross-country champion, who gave up running for football last fall, would be a threat over any distance.

Greenberg Picks Yanks Over Sox

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—The world champion Detroit Tigers lost three games in a row to the Boston Red Sox this week but Hank Greenberg, Tiger first baseman, rates the New York Yankees as the top contender for the laurels now held by the Motor City nine.

Riscussing the American League race before today's game at the stadium Greenberg said "I call the Yanks the team to beat because they appear to have a better allaround club. They also know what it is to win pennants."

Henry Cotton Passes On Canadian Open

LONDON, May 4 (AP)—Henry Cotton, outstanding British pro golfer, said today he was forced to decline an invitation to compete in the Canadian open June 27 to 30 because the bid "came too late and I can not fit it into my schedule."

He added that he doubted any British player would be able to make the trip.

Lubni, Hakush Quit N. Y. U. Track Team

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Coach Emil von Elling, veteran coach of the New York University track team, said today that Bill Lubin and Robert Hakusa, star sprinters and relay runners, had withdrawn from school following receipt of their selective service notices.

Schoolboy Hurls Perfect Game

NEW HOPE, Pa., May 4 (AP)—Hibbs Luff, left-handed pitcher from Newton High School, pitched a perfect no-hit, no-run 7 to 0 victory over New Hope High in a Lower Bucks County League baseball game yesterday. Luff faced the minimum 21 batters and fanned 18. Not a batter reached first and not a ball was hit to the outfield.

Harvard Crews In Quad Regatta

Headed by the varsity crew's first return to formal competition since 1942 and the 50th traditional track meet with Yale, Harvard's spring sports schedule reaches an early peak this Saturday.

Three other Harvard crews in addition to the varsity will be in action this week-end. The varsity and junior varsity eights will row in quadrangular races with Cornell, Princeton and Massachusetts Institute of Technology while the varsity and junior varsity 150's will row in the same race with Tabor Academy and M. I. T. 150's.

The track team, which has won two successive triangular meets, will meet with Tufts and Connecticut, and then with Holy Cross and Rhode Island State, will be participating in its first formal dual meet since 1942, while the Elis will be participating in their first postwar dual meet competition in four years.

The Harvard varsity baseball team will be in action against Boston University at Soldiers Field.

RIP KIRBY
OBVIOUSLY, DR. MICKS DIDN'T DESTROY HIS FORMULA.
HE COULDN'T QUITE BRING HIMSELF TO PART WITH IT. HE LOCKED IT IN HIS SAFE. NEXT MORNING IT WAS GONE.
TWO DAYS LATER, ONE OF OUR BEST STUDENTS SUDDENLY BECAME MENTALLY AND PHYSICALLY INCOMPETENT—
THEN A STAR ATHLETE WENT INTO A STRANGE DAZE...
KIRBY, WHOEVER STOLE THAT FORMULA IS TRYING IT OUT ON OUR STUDENTS! YOU MUST HELP US, OR WE'LL ALL BE RUINED!
WHEW! A DIRTY BUSINESS! BEAN THATCHER, I'M ON YOUR PAYROLL, AS OF NOW!

WILLIAMS HITS HOMER IN SIXTH

By HUCK FINNEGAN

FENWAY PARK, May 4—The glittering attraction of Bob Feller trying for his second straight no-hitter against the rampant Boston Red Sox drew a full house of 30,000 here today.

Feller, ace of the Cleveland staff, was the first pitcher since 1919 to dehydrate the Bronx Bombers. It was the second no-hitter of his career, and by far the more satisfactory of the two. It is a notable achievement to blank DiMaggio, Gordon, Keller and Co., let alone blanking them without a hit.

The Red Sox had a slugging array equally strong as the Yanks to toss at Feller. Dom DiMaggio is leading the league with .404. Bobby Doerr is leading the league in runs batted in. Ted Williams has a higher average on this date than he had in '41 when he wound up .406.

The Sox also had a string of eight consecutive victories going into the game.

It was cold, very cold at game time. But the sight of Feller warming up seemed to warm the fans for they gave him a rousing reception. Here, no doubt, was the greatest pitcher of modern baseball. He has two no-hit games, six one-hitters to his credit. He is the acknowledged strike out king.

Opposing him on the Sox mound was Jim Bagby, who spent his last five years on the Cleveland club. Fans were hoping Joe Dobson would be Feller's opponent but they seemed to be content to settle for Feller alone and the prospect of Williams hitting a home run off him.

Bagby made only one start for the Sox before this spring. That was against the A's and he was so wild he was yanked.

Bob Feller's bid for his second successive no-hitter was thwarted in the very first inning today when Johnny Pesky singled off the Cleveland ace. Pesky was second man up in the frame.

Pesky singled again in the second inning to score DiMaggio and H. Wagner. When he singled again in the fourth for his third straight hit, the 30,000 overoated fans roareed their acclaim. A moment later Williams' lazy double brought him home to give the Sox a 3-2 lead.

With Pesky on first as a result of a walk, Ted Williams hit his fourth homer of the season off Bob Feller in the sixth inning.

FIRST INNING

INDIANS—Case fanned. Edwards flied to Metkovich. Seerey walked. Fleming doubled, scoring Seerey. Pesky threw out Keltner. ONE RUN.

RED SOX—Metkovich walked. Pesky singled. Williams walked. Doerr fanned. York hit into a double play, Meyer to Conway to Fleming. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

INDIANS—Hayes singled. Bagby threw out Meyer. Doerr threw out Conway. Feller popped to Pesky. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—DiMaggio walked. Wagner singled, sending DiMaggio to third. Pellagrini popped to Feller. Bagby fanned. Wagner stole second. Metkovich walked filling the bases. Pesky singled, scoring DiMaggio and Wagner, Metkovich going to third. Meyer threw out Williams. TWO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

INDIANS—Case singled. Edwards flied to Williams. Seerey fouled to York. Fleming flied to Williams. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Doerr fouled to Hayes. York was called out on strikes. DiMaggio singled. Wagner singled, DiMaggio going to third. Pellagrini fanned. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

INDIANS—Keltner popped to Pesky. Hayes singled. Pellagrini threw out Meyer. Conway singled, scoring Hayes. Feller flied to DiMaggio. ONE RUN.

RED SOX—Meyer threw out Bagby. Metkovich flied to Case. Pesky singled. Williams doubled, scoring Pesky. Doerr fanned. ONE RUN.

FIFTH INNING

INDIANS—Case flied to DiMaggio. Edwards singled. Seerey singled but was out trying to stretch it at second, DiMaggio to Doerr, Edwards going to third. Doerr threw out Fleming. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—York singled. DiMaggio was called out on strikes. Wagner singled and when Edwards juggled the ball York went to third. Wagner stole second as Pellagrini fanned. Bagby fanned. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING

INDIANS—Pellagrani threw out Keltner. Hayes walked. Hayes went to second on a wild pitch. Meyer singled. Conway fined to Pesky and Meyer was doubled at first, Pesky to York. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Metkovich flied to Case. Pesky walked. Williams hit a home run in the Indians bull pen in right field scoring behind Pesky. Doerr fanned. York flied to Seerey. TWO RUNS.

Drawing Power—Baseball-crazy Boston fans storm the gates of Fenway Park before noon awaiting the sale of rush seats for the game today between the Red Sox and Cleveland Indians, with Rapid Robert Feller on the mound. The Sox, riding at the top of the American League standings, have won eight straight. Feller's no-hit, no-run effort earlier this week added to the attractiveness of the week-end single game.

100,000 Witness Derby

CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 4 (AP)—A huge throng, swelling rapidly under Derbytown's first sun in a week, bulged this picturesque racing plant at the seams today and promised to come close to reaching its predicted 100,000 proportions by the 5:15 P. M. (C. D. T.) post time for the 72d Kentucky Derby.

By the time the horses for the second race appeared on the drying track, more than 60,000—including Margaret Truman, the President's daughter—filled the clubhouse, grandstands and bleachers and milled around the colorful infield, and threatened to become the greatest throng ever to see a horse race in America.

Through the first two races, the customers on hand for the first $100,000 Derby in its 72-year history bet a total of $346,273, some 54 per cent over what was tossed into the mutuel machines for the same races on Derby day a year ago, when 75,000 fans wagered $2,380,796 on the card.

Through the morning hours and on into the afternoon, the field of 17 3-year-olds named to shoot for the necklace of roses and a $96,400 winner's purse remained intact, without a single withdrawal. Three hours before the deadline for scratches at 4:30 p. m. R. S. McLaughlin's Wee Admiral, the only somewhat doubtful starter, was still in the list, which was headed by Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's sleek Lord Boswell.

The combined effect of the sun and brisk southwest breeze, that left the flags of all nations pyramided around the infield flagpoles struggling to pull loose, was to wipe out all the puddles and leave a drying track which possibly would improve from "muddy" to "slow."

Braves, Buccs Game Postponed

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 4—The Braves and Pirates stood by a half-hour after the scheduled hour in the hope that they would be able to play the second game of their series today, but finally had to call it off.

Rain which fell all night and this morning showed signs of stopping, but hardly had the tarpaulin been removed from the diamond before more showers arrived.

The Braves, who have played only one game since they came West, leave this evening for St. Louis and a double-header with the Cardinals tomorrow.
